

PRIVACY POLICY

Children in the Wilderness (CITW) appreciates your support and would like to assure you that we respect your privacy. Should you provide us with any personally identifiable information via our website, associated subdomains and online services, we will make every reasonable effort to keep your information secure. Information you provide to us will be used solely for the purpose of the registered event logistics or described on the page where you enter the information. We have created this security and privacy statement in order to document and communicate our commitment to doing business with the highest ethical standards and appropriate internal controls.

DATA MINIMIZATION:

CITW undertakes to always only collect information necessary for the required purpose. The information we typically gather, includes:

1. Full Names and Surname;
2. Passport Details (Required for immigration pre clearances at the informal border posts);
3. Travel Insurance and Health details (required for preventative incident management and emergency response);
4. Clothing sizes (required for the event sponsor clothing etc.); and
5. Dietary Requirements (required for meal and food preparation planning);

It is important to note that in the planning and execution of events, we utilize specialized 3rd party services, such as caterers, medical professionals, outfitters etc. It may be required for us to share some of your information with these 3rd parties in order to cater for your specific needs or to ensure that our event preparation is up to standard. Note that we will share your information with Customs and Immigration officials to complete pre-clearance procedures and manifests for the several border crossings that you will undertake during the event. This may include CITW sharing your medical and health information with our medical staff to ensure that they are prepared in the unlikely event of an emergency, or special dietary information with the caterers in order to ensure that your requirements are met during the Event. Rest assured that these 3rd party service providers are subject to strict confidentiality restrictions and we will only share the relevant information with the applicable service providers necessary to fulfil the purpose.

In the case of making a donation to the CITW Programme, we will have to collect your personal information (first and last name, your credit card details - including card type, card number and expiry date - and your billing address, for example). We will only use your payment details for the purpose of processing your donation.

NEWSLETTERS AND CONTACT

CITW will not send you email newsletters at any time, unless you have expressly opted to receive them. All of our newsletters include the option to unsubscribe.

Please note that in the weeks and days leading up to the event, we will send you information about preparing for the event, packing lists, document reminders etc., to ensure that you are fully prepared for the actual event.

INFORMATION USAGE

Like most website operators, CITW collects non-personally-identifying information which web browsers and servers typically make available, such as the browser type, language preference, referring site, and the date and time of each visitor request. The purpose in collecting this type of information is to better understand how our visitors use our websites and to monitor the behaviour of our visitors on our sites. However, we will never disclose personally-identifying information. The information you voluntarily disclose to us, will stay with us. The only exceptions involve disclosure according to an order of a court, for example responding to a subpoena or search warrant, or in the case of you giving your consent to us to distribute a story about your experiences with CITW. We do not sell, rent, trade, lend, or otherwise transfer such personal information to affiliates, subsidiaries, sister companies, holding companies, parent companies, strategic partners, or any other organisation.

LINKS TO OTHER SITES

Our websites contain a number of links to other sites. CITW are not responsible for the security or privacy practices of these sites, the products or services offered by these sites, or the content appearing at these sites. CITW does not endorse any of the products or services marketed at any other sites.

POLICY ACCEPTANCE

By making use of our websites, associated subdomains and online services, this implies acceptance of our Privacy Policy. If you are not satisfied with any aspect of it, please do not continue to use the website and services. This policy may change from time to time and you are deemed to have accepted the current version each time you use our web properties. If you have any questions about our Privacy Policy, please contact us via email at info@childreninthewilderness.com.

If you wish to remove your name and related information from our database, please inform us and we will promptly take action to comply with your request.
